eBags Celebrates 25 Million Bags Sold

Denver, CO – February 4, 2016 – eBags.com, the largest online retailer of luggage, backpacks, handbags, and accessories, announces delivering its 25 millionth bag sold, a North Face Borealis backpack, to a customer in Laurel, MD.

Peter Cobb, co-founder and EVP of eBags said, “Hitting the 25 million milestone is remarkable. It’s gratifying to enhance our customers’ lives, whether via their vacations, business trips, or everyday commutes to work, school, or the gym. A fun fact: if each bag sold was placed side by side, they would extend 7,000 miles, or from San Francisco to Athens, Greece.”

eBags, which launched March 1999, also announced finishing 2015 with record sales. According to President and CEO Mike Edwards, the company’s momentum remains strong. He said, “The progress we made in the fourth quarter with 20% more products, launching Innovation Destination, improvements to our website, and the focus on mobile optimization, has led to positive first quarter results as well. Customers are responding to our team’s efforts.”
