San Diego, Ca. (May 26, 2016) – Known for innovation, quality construction and durability, Eagle Creek travel gear is proud to receive a Best In Class Award from The Gear Institute for the Gear Warrior™ 32 from the newly redesigned Outdoor Gear line of luggage. The honor shows that quality and versatility can come in big packages.

Testers enjoyed the ease of use, durability and separation of gear and clothing. They also appreciated features like multiple grab handles and the Equipment Keeper™ with bottle opener that allows equipment to be attached to the top of the bag. Industry-leading innovations like the glue-laminated Exo-Skeleton composite fabrication, deliver supreme durability and light weight carry. This new technology requires these qualities no longer need be mutually exclusive, and the testers liked what they saw.

“We are really honored to be presented with the Best In Class award from The Gear Institute,” said Roger Spatz, President, Eagle Creek. “We are known for building the best performing, longest lasting luggage on the market, and are pleased the testers appreciated the time, energy and devotion that went into designing and reinventing the newest Outdoor Gear bags.”
