LCI Brands Adds New Vice President of Product Development

Elk Grove Village, IL (PRWEB) September 2016

LCI Brands has announced that Patty Stemp will be its first Vice President of Product Development.

Stemp has spent the past 14 years at S.I. Jacobson Manufacturing leading their sales and new product development teams and creating a diverse portfolio of products for OEM and retail partners. Prior to that, she held various Product Management and Business Development roles with Travelon, Outer Circle Products (Arctic Zone) and The Thermos Company. She graduated from Beloit College with a degree in Economics.

“Patty brings a proven track record of success working with international suppliers, designers, and customers, which will be invaluable in meeting our company goals and objectives,” said Franz Wieshuber, Vice President of Sales and Marketing. “I am confident that Patty will be an excellent match for this position and a strong asset to our organization.”

Stemp will lead the Product Development Team in their efforts to design, develop, and launch exciting new products for the business. “This is a critical leadership role in taking our brands to the next level of growth and excellence through innovation,” said Wieshuber.

Stemp started in her new position on August 25th.
